

Cashman Denies Cruelty Charge In Divorce Case

Wife Called Him Fool When He Offered to Buy Her Hat, Senator Says

BEYOND AGE OF JEALOUSY

Suit Develops Into Battle Between Cleverest Legal Talent of Green Bay

By Associated Press
Green Bay—Plaintiff and defendant as second, a legal duel between two of the best professional minds in Green Bay was nearing its height Tuesday as the trial in Elizabeth Kelly Cashman's suit for divorce against State Senator John E. Cashman, was resumed in circuit court before Judge E. V. Werner of Shawano.

Senator Cashman, on the stand at the opening of Court Tuesday continued with his testimony begun late Monday afternoon. After denying all charges of cruelty as set forth in his wife's complaint, asserting that he was beyond the age of jealousy, and accusing his spouse with failure to support his views on laws pending in the state legislature, the senator related the events during one and one half years of matrimonial difficulty, leading up to the time his wife, whom he married on April 24, 1922, several years after the death of his first wife, left his farm near here while he was attending a regent's meeting at Madison on June 21, 1924.

EVERYTHING "O. K."
"When I left my wife to go to the regent's meeting I bid her goodbye and could not help but feel that everything was O. K.," he said, "but when I returned from the meeting the next day she was gone."

A legislative ball late in the spring of 1923 was the center of interest in the trial Monday afternoon. Cashman denied that his temper became aroused when his wife continued to dance with his associates, whom he presented to her. Testimony showed that after the first dance the senator left the dance floor in a car, and went to his office and did not return until almost midnight. He admitted an altercation occurred while going home from the dance, but denied the charge in the complaint for divorce, that he smashed a wedding picture that night.

Further along in his testimony he said that his wife called him a fool when he offered to buy her a new hat and declared that she said, "You fool, you don't know what is becoming to a lady." Attorney V. I. Minahan and John Martin, for the defense and plaintiff respectively, have agreed to speed up the trial and it is expected to end before the Christmas holidays.

FIND EMPLOYE IN SENATE INNOCENT

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The department of justice investigation into charges that a senate committee employee accepted money for the use of his influence in behalf of legislation, has resulted in a finding that no law was violated.

Attorney General Stone declined to divulge the nature of the legislation or the name of the man involved. Officers of postal workers' organizations charged that the case was concocted by opponents of the postal pay increase bill to try to defeat that measure and demanded that the attorney general make the facts public, but this never was done.

CALIFORNIA VOLCANO BELCHES IN PROTEST AGAINST SNOW COVER

Westwood, Calif.—Lassen peak, towering in the center of a subzero area in northern California during the winter months without a murmur, belched forth objection to the heavy snow dress she has been wearing when she sputtered out smoke and gases from her newest crater at Sundown Monday. A curtain of darkness shut off observations from this point, almost 30 miles distant but lookouts were up at daybreak Tuesday looking toward the scenic volcano and awaiting a recurrence of the activities of Monday. Residents of Lassen described the latest eruption from Lassen as the largest since 1915.

The hectic eruption fever resulted in a cloud of gray smoke breaking out of the newest notch in the crater and moving skyward against a snowy background directly east of the highest point in the peak.

YOUTH ATTEMPTS BLACKMAIL TO GET CHRISTMAS MONEY

May Spend Holidays in Jail After Threats to Mrs. Vanderbilt

By Associated Press
New York — Bern Siro, 20, may spend Christmas in jail instead of with his parents in Fresno, Calif., with $70,000 to spend as he had anticipated. In consequence of his failure to recognize a group of "loafers" in Battery Park as disguised detectives, Siro Tuesday faces charges of attempted blackmail and extortion.

Having written letters to Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Philip Rhinelander threatening to take action according to if money was not delivered as directed, it is alleged Siro tried to blackmail the former out of $50,000 and the latter out of $20,000. One of the letters containing Siro's threats was received by Henry A. Kegan, Mrs. Vanderbilt's secretary, and the other by Francis Walk, Mr. Rhinelander's secretary. Siro is said to have warned his intended victims not to put explosive in the packages of money they were commanded to surrender to him. It is reported he told them "some form of violence" would be used against each unless his demands were met.

By Associated Press
New York — William H. Anderson, former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New York will be re-arrested as he leaves Sing Sing prison Wednesday on parole. It was announced Tuesday by the district attorney's office. Prior indictments are pending against him.

Anderson will be brought to New York from Ossining and arraigned before General Sessions Judge Mancuso who will be asked to fix bail at $5,000 and to place the pending cases on the calendar to be called in the usual course of court procedure. Anderson has served part of a year's sentence for forgery by false entries on the league's books.

State Ends Rebuttal In Hight Poisonings

Mount Vernon, Ill. — In the third week of testimony the trial of Lawrence M. Hight, deposed pastor of Lawrence, Ill., and Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, who are charged with the murder by poison of Mrs. Anna Hight and Wilford Sweetin, Tuesday was nearing its end. A late session Monday night brought the case up to the concluding evidence, the state virtually finishing its rebuttal testimony.

Dr. Frank Fry, a St. Louis alienist, was the first witness for the state, testifying that Hight was of sound mind when he underwent examination by Dr. Fry last Oct. 24. Previous to this testimony, Dr. C. H. Anderson, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Anna, Ill., defense alienist, said that Hight had the mentality of a ten-year-old boy.

Dr. Fry stated that insanity was not hereditary when asked about the alleged feeble mindedness in Hight's family. In concluding Dr. Fry stated that the mental depression sometimes following a period of religious emotionalism is not unusual and has resulted in what is called the "blue Monday" of preachers.

Dr. Anderson's testimony indicated Hight was mentally unsound. The state demanded that questions Dr. Anderson asked the defendant be made public and the physician said he asked Hight if he saw anything incongruous or unreasonable about his sentence. The body of a young woman cut into 15 or 16 pieces was found in a park; it was believed she committed suicide.

"What was his answer?" was asked. "He said he could see nothing unreasonable about it," Dr. Anderson replied.

Previous to Dr. Anderson's appearance, dozens of Hight's former neighbors testified that Hight was a sane man when he preached in the village of Ina last summer.

SEEK CAUSE OF FATAL PLUNGE OF MAIL PILOT

Body of Dead Flier Ready for Transfer to Home of His Parents

By Associated Press
Chicago—The body of Clarence Gilbert, air mail pilot, rested Tuesday at the Maywood flying field, ready for transfer to Plainsville, Kans., home of his parents, while air mail officials here and in Omaha, Neb., began investigations of his plunge to death Sunday night near Kaneville, Ill.

Inquiries were ordered by the post-office department and by airplane experts to determine what trouble he had with the engine of his plane in the snowstorm and near zero weather and why his parachute did not unfurl when he leaped from an estimated height of 1,500 feet into a snow drifted corn field.

His plane, with its burden of Christmas mail, was so wrecked as to render difficult attempts to establish what engine trouble he may have had.

Gilbert was 25 years old and formerly had been a sergeant pilot at Marshall Field, Fort Riley, Kans. He entered the air mail service last August on a relief schedule flying between Chicago and Iowa City. He was married, his wife living in St. Louis, but at present visiting relatives in Junction City, Kans.

$300,000 DAMAGE IN LUMBER BLAZE

Six Firemen Break Through Ice in Menominee River but Escape With Lives

By Associated Press
Menominee, Mich.—Loss estimated at $300,000 was caused by fire which destroyed 5,000,000 feet of lumber and the docks of the J. W. Wells Lumber Co. The fire started simultaneously in two places late Monday night, and is believed to be of incendiary origin, according to officials of the company. The combined fire fighting apparatus of Marinette and Menominee had the fire under control at noon Tuesday, but were resorting to dynamite in an effort to save part of the docks.

The conflagration raged all night and was not under control until 3 o'clock Tuesday morning after several firemen were almost frozen to death in an heroic effort to fight the blaze.

While a fire hose was being carried across the Menominee river, six men plunged through the ice which gave way from the intense heat and the weight of the men. All of the men, however, succeeded in pulling themselves to safety by means of the hose.

INVITE OFFICIALS TO BOAT LAUNCHING

Manitowoc—Invitations have been issued by the Ann Arbor Railroad Co. and the Manitowoc Shipbuilding corporation, owners and builders of the New Ann Arbor ferry No. 7, for launching of the boat at the yards here Dec. 30. The boat will be not the first in the history of the lakes. The ceremony, which will be followed by a dinner, will take place at 3 o'clock.

Miss Jane Reynolds, of Frankfort, Mich., daughter of General Manager R. H. Reynolds of the Ann Arbor Co., will sponsor the new craft as it takes the water, restoring an old custom of breaking a bottle of real wine over the prow of the vessel. The No. 7 will not be in commission probably for six weeks after launching, but work is being rushed on the vessel, which represents an investment of a million dollars by the Ann Arbor Co. The boat will be of the ice crusher type similar to the No. 6 of the same line.

Good Fellows Fund Is $1,000 Short Of Goal

Good Fellows! The fund you are raising to take care of Appleton's needy families this winter still is far short of the goal set at the start of the campaign. Appleton Welfare council set out to raise $3,000, figuring that as the minimum sum required to take care of the city's poor folk for the year. Only a little more than $2,000 has been raised and only a single day is left to bring in the remainder.

This money is to be used to take care of the poor in this city. Every penny of it will be spent here and every penny will be used for the relief of suffering. Not a cent will be used to pay for collecting the money nor is there any expense connected with administration of charity work here.

The list of Good Fellows should contain the names of all men and women in Appleton who does not receive help from this fund. The vast majority of the people here are able to give at least a little to take care of the unfortunates and there are a lot of people who can afford to be liberal in their contributions for the poor.

Those who aspire to the name of Good Fellows are urged to send in their "membership fees" at once. Every dollar will be appreciated by the poor and every dollar that can be raised is required. Send your checks either to the Good Fellow club editor of the Post-Crescent or to Dr. M. H. Small, 844 Atlantic, treasurer of Appleton Welfare council. Make your checks payable to Good Fellow club.

COURT DISMISSES U. S. GRAND JURY

Irregularities Are Charged When Foreman Dines With Intelligence Man

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—The federal grand jury which has been in session here for several weeks, was dismissed here Tuesday by Judge F. A. Geiger. The action was taken on an affidavit by United States District Attorney Roy L. Morse, which charged irregularities.

Decision to dismiss the jury came after C. L. Converse of Chicago, representing the intelligence unit of the federal treasury department, had appeared before the court. He denied that he had in any way violated the rules governing the activities of the grand jury. He told the court that he had dined with the foreman of the jury, Thomas Brickley, of Milwaukee. This had also been admitted by Brickley in previous questioning. The action of the court makes void all the work of the jury and it will be necessary to call another body and place all the information before it that has been considered by the body dismissed by Judge Geiger Tuesday morning.

It was understood that 175 true bills had been voted by the jury and that their work was virtually completed.

By the decision the board assumed jurisdiction over the question when the statute of limitations may apply as well as questions of the amounts of taxes due.

Britain Refuses To Recognize Treaty Of U.S. With Berlin

First Penalty for Senate Squabble Over League of Nations Develops in England.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—The first real penalty that the United States government has had to pay for the unfortunate controversy in the American senate over the league of nations immediately following the war has developed at last.

For the British government has refused to recognize the separate treaty of peace between Germany and the United States as having the validity claimed for it by senatorial proponents and even the department of state. And the Washington administration has a lively controversy on its hands which may extend to France and the other allied powers.

The point in question was raised when the late President Harding through Secretary of State Hughes submitted a separate treaty to the senate as a consequence of the joint resolution which passed congress declaring a state of peace. In that treaty, the United States claimed all the rights which it would have enjoyed under the Versailles treaty but renounced the principal obligations of the latter including the league of nations covenant which was a part of the treaty. The alternative course was to ratify the Versailles treaty with reservations, specifically disclaiming responsibility for the league covenant and other provisions applying the economic clauses having to do with the claiming of reparations.

Mr. Hughes might have submitted the Versailles treaty with reservations but President Harding thought the "irreconcilables" in the senate would block action. For the sake of expediency the separate treaty was made. Not long afterwards France indicated unofficially that she questioned the validity of the Berlin treaty and yet nothing was said publicly about it. Great Britain and the other allies were silent because the issue was never put before them.

Now, however, the expected argument has been made, namely that the contract between Germany and the allied and associated powers for the division of reparations was an agreement between the Berlin government on the one hand and a partnership of nations on the other. Germany assigned her assets to the partnership which the allies claimed was indivisible, or at least indivisible without mutual consent, America by failing to ratify the Versailles treaty was regarded as having not only withdrawn from the partnership but as having forfeited everything that Germany was in a position to bestow on the allied and associated powers.

SECURED RECOGNITION
But America has secured recognition for her claims in the mandate controversy by persuading the allies that a spirit of equity must be applied. The British and French may ultimately agree to that in this instance, too, but if they can make a case out against the validity of the Berlin treaty they will prevent the United States from getting any priority in collecting war claims from Germany. Thus the relations of those who lost their lives on the Lusitania and in submarine warfare will not get early payment and there will be no compensation for the property of American citizens damaged during the war until the consent of the allies is obtained. From a legal viewpoint this is somewhat humiliating but the irreconcilables in the American senate are responsible for what has happened and it will take all the legal wit of Charles Evans Hughes to secure for America what she is entitled to and what the allies, if they choose to be technical, may insist on withholding unless they get in return some other concession. It all may become involved in the settlement of war debts to American and interrelated debts before the controversy is actually solved.

"MR. ZERO" PLANS TO LEAD UNEMPLOYED IN CHURCH ENCAMPMENTS

New York — "Mr. Zero's" army of homeless unemployed plans Christmas encampments in several churches. After a second night's bivouac in the Camp Memorial Congregational church, 246 men started out Tuesday in quest for homes. Urban J. Ledoux, "Mr. Zero" to his army—says a dime will give any man all he can get twice a day at his restaurant, "The Tub."

Scores of "Mr. Zero's" who Monday night were denied entrance to the already filled church, planned to gather Tuesday afternoon at "The Tub" to hear "Mr. Zero" expand his campaign plans, which include the invasion of seven more churches and an appeal to the federal government for shelter at the pier in the unused vessels of the shipping board fleet.

Alleged Organization of Reich's Police Cause Concern Among Allies

EVACUATION DUE JAN. 10

Britain Asserts She Has No Desire to Extend Time of Occupation

By Associated Press
Paris—Germany's disarmament status will come before the allied council of ambassadors Friday instead of Wednesday as expected, the regular meeting of the council having been postponed. The ambassadors Tuesday received a communication from the supreme interallied military commission embodying the latest reports on the subject from the military control mission, and the postponement was decided upon to give them time to consult with their government and have a letter to Germany drafted.

The two aspects of the German international situation that are giving the greatest concern are said in official quarters to be the alleged organization of the German police along lines that make it in reality a sort of army and the allegations that the clandestine manufacture of machine guns is going on.

STONE TAKES HAND IN DISPUTE OVER LIQUOR INQUIRIES

Attorney General Calls Conference to Probe New Jersey Conditions

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The situation in the office of United States District Attorney Winne of New Jersey was the subject of a conference called Tuesday by Attorney General Stone with Mr. Winne, Assistant District Attorney Van Riper and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrand, assistant attorney general, as participants.

Mr. Stone has made no secret of his dissatisfaction with conditions in Mr. Winne's office but has withheld details of his objections. Controversy between Mrs. Willebrand and Mr. Winne arose when the district attorney made preparations to present evidence in the Weehawken rum scandal in the federal grand jury. Mrs. Willebrand opposed this procedure and with the approval of the attorney general instructed Mr. Winne to remain out of the case and also to refuse Mr. Van Riper permission to participate in any prohibition case.

Mrs. Willebrand held that the state authorities were handling the Weehawken cases satisfactorily and it was the desire of the department to allow them to continue so long as they proceeded vigorously against the alleged offenders.

In a conference last week at which the situation was considered, Senator Lodge of New Jersey participated.

Kid M'Coy Gets Breaks In Fight For His Life

By Associated Press
Los Angeles, Calif.—Kid M'Coy, ladies' man and erstwhile of the prize ring, entered the superior court Tuesday to witness the last round of his fight for freedom, in final arguments of his counsel for the boxer who is charged with murdering Mrs. Theresa Moran, divorced wife of a wealthy antique dealer, in her apartment here.

The "Kid" had what fighters call the "breaks" in the case. The sentimental advantage of having a jury deliberated as to his fate on Christmas eve was in prospect. His story that Mrs. Moran, his lover, committed suicide in the apartment which they occupied was uncontradicted by evidence and his attorney was busy cursing from the minds of the jurors any unpleasant pictures left there Monday by the prosecution. M'Coy thought of the whole proceeding Tuesday in terms of who, lose or draw, acquittal, hanging or a divided jury.

Defense Counsel H. L. Giesler later stood?

Monday began a detailed presentation of the suicide version of Mrs. Moran's death which M'Coy had roughly sketched from the witness stand when he testified in his own defense last Friday.

Giesler pictured the woman as a wife distraught over threats of death hurled at her by her divorced husband, Albert Moran, worried over a jewel smuggling tangle, in which federal investigation apparently had implicated her; remorseful and anxious over her relations with M'Coy, with whom she had been living for several weeks in an apartment leased to "Mr. and Mrs. N. Shields."

Such a state of mind might easily lead to suicide, he argued.

A bailiff silenced M'Coy when the husband, increased by Giesler's reference to his quarrel with Mrs. Moran, shouted from his seat in the court room.

"Why didn't you call me to the stand?"

Inaugural Ball Likely To Be Vanishing Custom

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—If President Coolidge sticks to his decision of today, there will be no presidential inaugural ball in Washington next March.

He has been reasoned with up hill and down hill, all to no purpose. In fact, the more he was reasoned with, the surer he was he wouldn't attend. The affair could have been held without him seemingly there might have been an inaugural ball.

The proposition originally was put up to him by a committee of prominent society folk who thought maybe he could be induced to grace the affair at least by looking in for a little while.

The committee members explained to him about the elegant affair it was going to be, how long it has been since Washington has had a function of the kind and how delighted all the diplomats and higher army and navy officers would be and how much officialdom would enjoy it if the blow-out could be a regular presidential inaugural affair this time.

DIDN'T WANT ONE
The president listened, stony faced, to all this talk for about 20 minutes, without saying a word. Then, as the appeal reached its conclusion and the committee waited breathlessly for a reply, he asked:

"Would I have to go?"
Well, yes, they told him, at a presidential inaugural ball, they thought it indispensable to have the president on hand.

"No," he said. "I don't want any ball anyway."

"There'll be a ball. It will be held in the big new Mayflower hotel, and a lot of the elite will be there, but not a particle of official status will it have."

President Harding vetoed an inaugural ball on the same grounds as President Coolidge—that he didn't want to spend government money on it at a time when the country ought to be giving all the money it could.

He put his foot down less firmly, however, and probably with less good will. He liked social gatherings and doubtless would have enjoyed the function if he had considered it diplomatic or good politics just then.

There was no official ball at President Wilson's second inauguration because of the war. The United States hadn't entered it yet, but it was deemed unsuitable, with the great conflict raging in Europe and the United States, as many already believed, sure to be dragged in.

Nor was there a ball at the first Wilson inauguration, either. "That time the president said it didn't accord with his idea of Jeffersonian simplicity. Many whispered that really it was because he didn't like to dance."

So the last regular presidential inaugural ball was in the time of President Taft.

IN PENSIONS BUILDING
In these days such affairs were held in the big rotunda of the Pensions Building. The filing cabinets and other furniture were cleared out. The floor is a wonderful one on which to dance, the decorations were magnificent, the Marine Band played and all the high-ups and sailors in their dress uniforms the diplomats in all kinds of splendor and glittering decorations, society and officialdom, the loveliest women and the most distinguished men turned out in full force for a perfectly wonderful time.

Those were pre-Volstead days, too. President Roosevelt began his first full term in the White House with as magnificent a ball as the Pensions Building ever saw. Presidents Cleveland, Harrison, Garfield, Hayes and Grant all observed the formality of the inaugural ball—President Hayes, however, very quietly and with no ardent drinks, for he was of the dry persuasion even then.

Very few people can remember as far back as the Lincoln Inauguration. Those were troubled times in Washington and society was in eclipse.

It is of record, however, that Washington had a ball at the beginning of each of his terms, and though there may have been a lapse or two between Washington and the outbreak of the Civil War, there certainly has been none as long as the last 16 years.

TESTER FINISHES YEAR WITH THOMAS HERD AS LEADER

Lynn Matteson Owns Cow Which Gave Highest Butterfat Production

Bear Creek—Twenty-five grade Holstein cows owned by Ernest Thomas, Sugar Bush, made the highest herd production record in Bear Creek-Clintonville Cow Testing association for the year ending Oct. 31, 1924, according to a report prepared by A. S. Peterson, official tester.

Highest individual milk and butterfat record was made by Grundy No. 12, a grade Jersey owned by Lynn E. Matteson, Clintonville.

Mr. Thomas' herd averaged 324.1 pounds of butterfat in nine months or more of testing. The feed averaged one pound to every four pounds of milk. Cows producing an average of 40 pounds of butterfat a month were milked on an average of three times a day. Mr. Thomas did not feed his cows large amounts at one time but gave them nominal amounts regularly.

Mr. Matteson's high cow, a 7-year-old, gave 9,035 pounds of milk during the year. The test was 5.28 per cent fat and the total butterfat production was 473 pounds.

Twenty-four members stayed with the association for the full year's testing. Mr. Peterson reports. There were 371 cows tested for the entire 12 months and 101 were on record for part of that period. Cows sold for less than $100, those sold at the national dairy show in Milwaukee totaled 4, and those sold for dairymen counted 36. Twenty cows were bought by members during the year.

Nine cows produced more than 450 pounds of butter, nine were in the 400 to 450-pound class, 33 in the 350 to 400-pound group and 75 yielded 300 to 350 pounds. Thirty-two averaged at least a pound of butterfat a day for the year.

Ten highest cows in the association for the year were:

GIRLS TAKE HIGH PRIZES IN COUNTY PIG CLUB CONTEST

Thirty-three Boys and Girls
Share in $100 Awards
by Merchants

Two girl members of Outagamie-co pig clubs won the highest recognition for their work in feeding and caring for a pig the past summer and fall, according to prizes awarded by the retail trades division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. The girls were Lora Kline, route 2, Hortonville, and Esther Nelson, route 1, Bear Creek and their prizes were $10 each.

A total of $100 was given out in prizes by the Appleton merchants. The money was taken from a special fund built up by the members retail trades division. Thirty-three boys and girls shared the prizes. The awards were in $10, $5, $3, $2.50 and $1 amounts. Checks were sent out by the chamber of commerce the last part of last week.

Merits of the pig club members were judged on the basis of results obtained in raising the pig, the profit netted, the completeness of the daily record books, etc. Robert A. Amundson, county agricultural agent,

Milk Scarcity Causes Rise In December Prices

Milk prices paid farmers by Appleton distributors are approximately 20 cents a hundred pounds higher for December than November, due largely to a shortage of milk to supply the consumers. Creameries here are obliged to import cream to supply the trade until the situation changes.

While quotations announced by the Wisconsin department of markets declared that the average price paid farmers in November for milk was $1.88 a hundred pounds, the correct figure offered by distributors here would be $2.15 to $2.25. This is about 25 cents a hundred above what the creameries pay. A surplus was reported by the state but just after the reports came out a shortage of supply took place and the prices started to climb. Farmers who bring milk to Appleton now receive $2.20 to $2.40 a hundred pounds, the price based on a fat content of 4 per cent.

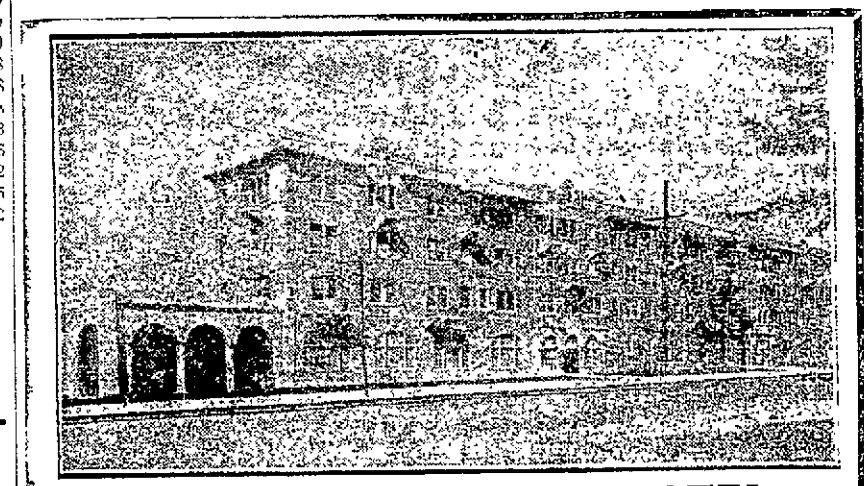

Butter production has been curtailed considerably due to fluctuation directed the organized pig club work this year.

Next to the $10 prizes, the two best prizes were those of $5 each which were awarded to Karl Schneider, Black Creek, and Harold Greinert, Hortonville. Prizes of $3 each went to Harold Rospeck, Seymour; Lewis Letts, Appleton; Kenneth W. Lathrop, New London; Harold P. Schultz, Bear Creek; Mearl Kleist, Seymour; James Smith, West DePere.

Prizes of $2.50 each were awarded to Peter Smith, West DePere; Josephine Carpenter, Navarino; Harold Wiedenhaupt, Appleton; Mildred Letts, Appleton; Willard Grode, Kaukauna; Simpson, Kaukauna; Norman Miller, Seymour; Donald Anderson, Bear Creek.

The following received prizes of $1 each: Clarence Court, Black Creek; Clinton and Gordon Moraux, Kaukauna; Louis Ullmer, Seymour; Nick Baumgartner and Joseph Baumgartner, Onida; Morris Anderson and Clarence Schoenike, Bear Creek; Alvin Collins, Seymour; Edmund Grode, Kaukauna; Clair Mulroy, New London; Edward Fitzgerald, Black Creek;

FARMERS DISAPPOINTED WITH 1924 CASH CROPS

Madison — Hay and grain crops for feeding livestock have been "quite satisfactory" this year, but returns from "cash crops" are disappointing, according to a current issue of the Wisconsin Crop and Livestock Reporter, issued by Paul O. Nyhus, agricultural statistician.

Rain And Rot Cut Score In Potato Production

Waupaca-co, usually one of the heaviest producing potato counties in the state, has fallen down considerably in the race this year, and Outagamie-co also is one of the trailers, according to production records compiled by Paul O. Nyhus, federal-state crop statistician, Madison. Waupaca's average was 130 bushels to the acre and Outagamie scored 132. Prevalence of dry rot and the deteriorating effect of incessant rains are responsible for the slump.

Chippewa-co proved the banner potato producing county in Wisconsin this year, as far as average production per acre is concerned. The report shows that the average production of potatoes for the state this season was 129 bushels per acre.

The average production is a considerable increase over last year when the average was 90 bushels, the summary shows. Taylor county carried off the production honors last year with an average of 149 bushels per acre.

The largest production by groups was in the northwest districts, where the crop averaged 181.4 bushels per acre. This group includes the following: Brown, 105 bushels; Bayfield, 140 bushels; Burnett, 144; Chippewa, 172; Douglas, 145; Polk, 152; Rusk, 140; Sawyer, 139; Washburn, 148.

Production of leading counties in other districts follows:
North district: average 144.1. Taylor, 134; Price 149; Oneida 142; Lincoln

CONGRESS AND JAPAN

As if to demonstrate how hunk-headed politicians may be, we have a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Britten, ranking Republican on the naval committee, proposing a conference of the white nations on the Pacific for their mutual protection. Here is a deliberate affront to a friendly nation, inspired either by maudlin jingoism or just rotten judgment, we don't know which. Since Mr. Britten comes from Illinois it is not impossible that he has conceived this idea from the press propaganda against Japan conducted by Chicago newspapers.

Coincident with this faux pas, we have the arrival of a new ambassador from Japan who declares his admiration for the United States, for the "frankness and fairness" of its policies and for its evidences of good will toward his country. He adds: "I realize the importance of the position and I am determined to do my utmost to strengthen confidence toward Japan in America." On the same day we have a news dispatch from Paris to the effect that Japan is willing to participate in another conference for disarmament called either by the League of Nations or President Coolidge.

Secretary Hughes, who is in constant contact diplomatically with the nation, and who knows whereof he speaks, insists that the intentions toward the United States are entirely friendly. It is to be assumed that what he says is the truth, for there are no indications of any nature of hostility by Japan toward this country.

It is small wonder, therefore, that Secretary Hughes is resentful toward the blundering congressman from Illinois, whose resolution has, of course, been cabled to Tokio, to the amazement and regret of the Japanese government. Mr. Hughes will have to go to considerable trouble and effort to make Japan understand that the act of Representative Britten is merely a fancy of his own distorted imagination and that it reflects neither public opinion nor governmental policy. Nevertheless, such incidents are deplorable and not without damage. They serve to keep alive the suspicions and prejudices which alone are capable of causing misunderstanding. If congress would permit the president and the state department to handle our relations with Japan, and wait until it is called upon by the former, we would be a great deal better off, and there would be little question about continued and enduring peace between the two nations.

THE NEW A. P. OF L. PRESIDENT

All things considered, we think the elevation of William Green to the presidency of the American Federation of Labor to succeed the late Samuel Gompers, was well decided. Mr. Green has an excellent record with the United Mine Workers of America as its treasurer, and as a level headed and conservative executive. Back of him and his years of service with this organization is the well-known loyalty of the United Mine Workers to the government and our institutions, and the constructive character of his leadership. The new labor chief will serve only until October when the general election is held. Mr. Green is comparatively young, and with the support of the mine workers, in the federation, he should stand a good chance of election in his own right.

Heavy responsibilities will devolve upon Mr. Green and his policies will be under the careful scrutiny not only of labor itself, but of industrial interests and the public at large. There is an increasing purpose on the part of industry and business to get on with organized labor in a friendly way and to meet it on common ground. We think there is a growing desire on both sides for a substitution of reason for force, and this desire will certainly be advanced by a continuation of the program so well conducted by Mr. Gompers.

THE CAKE-EATERS AT MADISON

These are parolous days for the so-called "cake-eaters" and if reports are to be believed the worst is yet to come. The cruel hand of fate or destiny, or whatever it is, that watches over "cake-eaters," has descended at Madison and there is woe on the campus. The edict has gone forth from the office of no less a personage than Dean Scott H. Goodnight, so reports say, that there is to be a serious curtailment of the "fussing" and dancing proclivities of the gilded youth and those not so gilded.

There is to be more attention paid to classes and healthful recreation and not so much to "petting" and dinner dances and other indoor sports, the dean has let it be known. Wisconsin is no longer to be known as the "cake-eating champs" of the Big Ten. This opprobrium has been applied to the state university by other big universities, and whether it has been unjustly earned or not, the Madison professors plan to see to it that it will be a misnomer hereafter as far as Wisconsin is concerned.

In the future Wisconsin is to be a "he-man's" school. Promenades, hops and military balls and tea dances are to be slashed off the curriculum of the would-be "sheiks", and serious study and athletic competition substituted. Sta-comb, odorono, military brushes and perfume will no longer be considered necessary to the well-being of the male students. No more will Percy Marmaduke Sweeney, the champion fox-trotter of the campus, be the cynosure of all eyes as he saunters down State street or nonchalantly steps from his gaudily painted roadster in front of his fraternity house. On the contrary, Percy Marmaduke and his "accomplishments" will be relegated to the limbo of forgotten pastimes. His place will be taken by a rugged specimen in a mackinaw and knee high boots, with a free and easy swing to his hips, and the free and easy swing will not have been acquired on the ballroom floor either.

Dean Goodnight says some of the men students have "admitted" that most of the "cake-eating" propensities of the male students developed because of the favor they found in the eyes of the co-eds. We believe this is untrue. We do not believe that any co-ed smiles upon a wasp-waisted tea dancer when there is a sturdy specimen of the male species around. Wisconsin girls are not that kind. They admire manly qualities in their men friends just as much as any other girl, whether she be from Ohio or Michigan, but, rumor has it, such a personage is difficult to find in Madison. We don't believe he is. They are there, but they are blushing unseen or have allowed themselves to be gently but firmly pushed in the background by the fox-trotters.

Seriously, we believe that most of the criticism and jests heaped upon Wisconsin is not justified. The university at Madison probably has no more "cake-eaters" than any other institution. The problem is always at hand. If the university had had a successful football season and soundly trounced Michigan, Chicago and Iowa this fall little would have been heard of the "cake-eaters." Everything would have been hunky dory and Madison would have been the breeding place of real men and ferocious football players.

We have every confidence that when next fall rolls around Wisconsin will step out on the gridiron and show its critics that it possesses the old fighting spirit, wipe up the earth with some of its mighty opponents and still the jestful remark that our state capital is the lair of the "cake-eater."

Nothing comes to him who sits down and waits.

CHLORINE FOR THE CRI.

Cri, the I pronounced ee as in ski, is a perfectly good word, I can assure you, because I invented it. It is built with the initial letters of the words "common respiratory infection". The health authorities of the country have needed this word for years. They have been using a word which is utterly obsolete today, and by using the wrong word they have been contributing to much popular misunderstanding and misapprehension concerning the cause and nature of the vast majority of illnesses in the community. Cri means nothing more definite or specific than I have just explained, but at least it conveys no misleading idea. It would be futile to wait for a word which will supplant the obsolete and delusive term "cold", for we know that the term which has fallen into ill repute never has had any specific significance but only a vague connotation. So cri is the word. I I sa frail young word with its own way to make in the world. It is poor, but honest. Try it next time you have the cri.

The treatment of cri with chlorine gas has now reached the stage of commercial exploitation. The market is flooded with innumerable styles of apparatus intended to simplify the administration of chlorine. Behind these commercial adventures are the manufacturers who, like the medicine manufacturers, assume the role of instructor to the family physician. The family doctor's mail these days fairly reeks of chlorine and between every two bills he finds a folder telling him all about the wonders chlorine gas treatment will accomplish in his practice.

The chlorine treatment certainly puts the typhoid bacilli and the dysentery bacilli in our municipal water supply systems out of the combat, even if it does give the water a disagreeable taste when they get a bit too much chlorine in it. The engineers will swear nobody can taste the chlorine in water. For you know how ordinary "chloride of lime" (chlorinated lime) smells when you open a lime? Chlorine in the form of the Dakin solution is probably the most effective germicide (germ killer) which can be applied to a wound without doing any harm to the tissues. But the Dakin solution will not keep more than a few days and it requires an expert to prepare it and a surgeon to use it effectively according to the Carrel technique.

Chlorine as a gas can be administered safely. In the treatment of cri, only by a physician equipped with special apparatus. But anybody may try the chlorine treatment in this manner: Hang near your face a medium size Turkish towel which is saturated with the Dakin solution (a 4% per cent solution of sodium hypochlorite). The solution may be used four or five times its volume of water. The towel should be knotted at the bottom to prevent any dripping of the solution. The chlorine is pungent and slightly irritates the breathing passages. The eyes may be kept closed if the chlorine irritates them. The chlorine treatment may be taken in this way for an hour or 10 hours daily or even 24 hours a day. It is a rough and ready way to try the chlorine treatment for cri, but as long as you are still conscious you will not be likely to harm yourself with it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Plants.

Is it unhealthy to sleep in a room with growing plants. I have been told it is. (Mrs. J. I. M.)

Answer.—On the contrary it is healthful. Remember Ben Told and next time he gives you his opinion on matters of health and hygiene, refer him to the marines.

Tuberculosis.

Friend in Asheville whose case of tuberculosis has been arrested for over a year. It is advisable for her to return home now? (S. L.)

Answer.—I should think that might come home now, but it would be exceedingly foolhardy for her to make such a move without consulting her physician about it.

Dear Rollo: If you are so wise please tell me why the east side junior high school resembles a paper mill and the west side junior high school take on the appearance of a state prison. If you answer promptly, I will write you a poem something like the following: There was a young girl named Pauline, She rodd around in her big limousine, She put on the brake, there was ice on the bill, Her limousine stopped, but she is going still, Oh Dear! Pauline, A Nonny Mussy

What the writer should have said is what prevents the one from looking like a paper mill and the other from looking like a prison, if we remember correctly an interview published a little more than a year ago. The answer is: A bond issue of $250,000.

We suppose that last line which the poet gave for to expurgate was something like, "What good are four wheel brakes to Pauline?"

A SHOPPING TOUR

Note book: Get some cards; stop at postoffice; remember about rubbers; Christmas gift list. What's that head-line? "Mermaid to wed." Presumably a mere man. Wonder if the boy is safe under the mat. Who started the fad of running cars off schedule anyway? There's a doctor to be pitied. So few patients and so little patience. Sign on a driver: "Yes, dear, it's a Ford." A dancing Santa Claus figure in a store window. His sumptuous style must be a gift. There are four-door cars, three-door cars and a two-door car called the Tudor. Maybe I'll find a one-door car called the Wonder. Look at that boy standing in the music window. For heavens' sake, wind that photograph! There goes a touring car with the top down and here it is right below zero. Another with no top at all. Three unfinished apartments bear the sign: "Will be ready for occupancy Oct. 15." Two girls on street corner having animated "He said and then I said" conversation. And a flapper telling of losing 14 cents at matching pennies. A couple new barber shops and several extra chairs. Demonstrating the power of the hot A woman knitting while waiting for a street car for the Fourth ward. Must be the original Fiskimo kid. The old maid's song: "Any dude'll do." Forty signs, "Do your Christmas mailing early, and nobody ails to read. Eighty Christmas trees stuck in the walk and dying of premature old age. Ouch! My feet are cold, and I haven't brought a single thing. Wonder if the day before Christmas will be early enough. The tour ends.

It is a rare sight to see a man shoeing a horse. Recently a woman saw a horse-shoer pounding a horse's foot, and she tried to have him arrested for cruelty to animals.

BIG PROBLEMS AHEAD

At present the laboratory of the bureau of standards is perhaps the most important workshop in the entire world. The problems specifically involved cover a wide range. They include transoceanic radio service, developments of aids to navigation in the air and on the sea; study of directed radio transmission that will reach a designated point and the absolute control from a distant radio station of such objects as airplanes, automobiles and locomotives.

At the same time army and navy engineers are busy in the same field, concerned of the fact that in the future radio may revolutionize the science of war, relegate the textbooks to the scrap heap and the accepted authorities on military and naval tactics to the retired list.

Lately a new avenue of development was opened up when Captain Richard H. Granger, of the Radio Corporation of America, succeeded by means of a new invention in sending photographs from London to the offices of the corporation in New York. About the same hour that these ghostly pictures were riding the ether across the Atlantic another radio inventor, C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, succeeded in transmitting the picture of a written message from this city to Boston. In neither case were the results perfect but both inventors are confident that perfection is in the offing and that it is only a matter of months until the stage of commercial use and application is reached.

These photographs and picture messages are not themselves actually sent by radio. In the same way as the microphone translates music into electric currents so the photo-sending machine translates the shading of a picture into electrical impulses which the photoreceiving machine translates into duplicates of the photo at the other end.

As seen by experts here the field of criminal investigation offers a far more important field for the future of criminal investigation of the department of justice in Washington transmitted by radio to Scotland Yard, London, might result in the apprehension of a notorious criminal while he was loitering over his luncheon.

Radio Sight May Be Next Of Wonders

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—America with the rest of the world is on the threshold of a new era, the radio age, when the marvels and the mysterious possibilities of the great popular science will give a new impetus to commerce and industry and a new direction to the lives of all the people.

This is the confident prediction of dozens of radio experts and engineers who make almost daily announcements with predictions as to the future that almost challenge credulity and stagger the imagination.

Even the most conservative scientists of the government confess to the temptation to indulge in visions and to dream dreams when they contemplate the realities of radio and peep into the future. This much they uniformly concede—that in view of what has been done and the promise of the things immediately ahead there is little room in the field of radio for the skeptic and the unbeliever.

At the moment the man who perhaps speaks with the greatest amount of authority is Dr. J. H. Dellinger, chief of the radio laboratory of the United States bureau of standards. He eschews the role of prophet but he is willing to shake his reputation as a scientist on the belief that radio is only in its infancy, though perhaps the most marvellous infancy that the world has ever known.

SEE THE SPEAKER

It is practically certain, he believes that with five years radio audiences everywhere will not only be able to tune in but they will have radio sight which will enable them to see the facial expressions of important speakers on great public occasions and witness important events simultaneously with the announcer at far distant broadcasting stations.

It is of interest to find that Dr. Dellinger regards the receiving sets now in use as a crude makeshift comparable to the automobile of a quarter of a century ago. It is only a question of a brief period until the era of experiment is over and simpler, cheaper and better receiving sets will be available to everyone. And when this time comes the receiving sets will be an almost universal possession and taken so much for granted that only children will be tempted to add just this to tune in with the radio eye and the radio ear to any event desired, it will be only necessary to press a button.

Old Time Yule Party In Church

An informal old-fashioned Christmas party will be given in the basement of Methodist Episcopal church at 7:15 Wednesday evening for Sunday school children and members of the congregation. One hour of carolling around the Christmas tree is planned, and the particular feature of the evening is the appearance of the Sunday school orchestra for the first time. Mrs. Edwin Godfrey is directing the organization.

The program will include a group of carols by the Intermediate orchestra followed by two songs by the congregation. Cross Eyes Straightened

Over 25 years ago I began to specialize in the straightening of cross eyes. In this work I have developed and perfected a system that makes results so certain that I truthfully state "No need to hesitate. Your cross eyes can be straightened." My records now show over

6,000 SUCCESSFUL CASES FROM MAINE TO CALIFORNIA
Many of these, learning of my reputation from others whose eyes I have straightened, have come thousands of miles to have me relieve them of the awful disfiguring blight of cross eyes. And when they came, they were amazed that these marvelous results were secured usually in one visit, with no hospital stay. Don't take my word alone for this—send for list of recent successful cases, perhaps some are from your city. The following are a few: C. Gallenberger, 125 S. Oakland, Green Bay; Richard Peterson, 917 McDonald-St., Green Bay; Henry Thomas, 701 Jackson St., Wausau; Miss M. Hendler, 608 Monroe-St., Ft. Atkinson; Herman Braun, 1330 Greeley, Sheboygan; John Lang, 1331 7th-St., Oshkosh; Mrs. A. Crippie, 605 2nd-St., Milwaukee. Call or write to them—let them tell you of the happiness and better looks, the better eyesight they now enjoy because I straightened their eyes. Parents—save your child's eyesight, save their endless embarrassment, by having their cross eyes straightened.

Azzarrella And Kane Will Headline Fight Card Here New Years

Milwaukee and Chicago Batters Agree to Johnston's Terms and Contracts Have Been Forwarded.

Jack Kane of Chicago will meet Joe Azzarrella, Milwaukee, in the window of the Midwest Boxing association card here on Jan. 1, according to an announcement by Promoter Elmer Johnston. Both fighters have accepted Johnston's terms and contracts have been sent to them for signature.

Fighting Herb of Oshkosh, who has been slated for the semi, has raised his price almost double despite his recent defeat on the last Fond du Lac card, and probably will not appear here for that reason. Dick Ryan, Appleton, has been working out daily for more than a month in expectation of being matched on the New Years day card, and it looks as though he would fight Young Shaw, Fond du Lac, who has a decisive victory over Young Church, Green Bay, to his credit, and has made excellent showings in all of his battles.

Wassie Hendricks of Kaukauna, and Rutling Beck of Kaukauna, are slated for the second preliminary. These two battles have clashed twice during the past three months—once in Armyory G here, when Beck delighted the fans by wading into Wassie for all he was worth, and again at Fond du Lac where the Kaukauna favorite won by a healthy margin.

The opener still is undecided, although it is practically sure two local boys will be given a chance to do their stuff.

In Azzarrella Johnson is getting one of the flashiest and toughest 135-pounders of the state. He fought Joey Sangor to a good draw at Fond du Lac, and all who saw the fight agree it was one of the best shows the valley has seen in years. Jack Kane also has a reputation as a willing scrapper. He subdued Dennis in the Fond du Lac semi-windup and beat Walsh of Milwaukee badly in that event. Furthermore he has victories over O'Dowd and a number of other noted fighters in his credit, and is sure to give Azzarrella a hard scrap.

Four Captains Sure To Star

Real class best tells the story of the football ability of the four captains who will bring the football season to a close on New Year's Day.

When Stanford meets Notre Dame at Pasadena, two All-American players will shake hands just before the battle.

Adam Walsh of Notre Dame is one of the greatest centers in years. Despite the handicap of two broken hands most of the football season, he played a wonderful game.

Jim Lawson of Stanford is the outstanding end on the coast, deserving of an All-American berth if ever a player was.

In the clash between Pennsylvania and California, two worthy leaders will carry on for their respective schools.

"Ebb" Horrell of California is the best forward in that section of the country. Coast experts are unanimous in the opinion that an All-

American team that failed to place him would be incomplete.

Ray McGraw, star backfield man of Pennsylvania, is known as the Tris Speaker of football. His judgment in handling punts is uncanny. He takes them as a ball player handles a fly ball and his style has been compared with Speaker's.

Four real captains, football players extraordinary, who merit all the praise that has been heaped on them.

INDUSTRIAL CAGE LEAGUE LIFTS LID AFTER NEW YEARS

Representatives of Six Teams Will Meet at Y. M. C. A. on Jan. 2

Industrial basketball is due to start in Appleton on Jan. 7, according to tentative plans of the league now in process of formation. Representatives of six industries in this city met recently and discussed prospects of organizing teams for entry into the league under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and indications are that all of them will be ready for action the first Wednesday in January.

A meeting has been called for Friday, Jan. 2, in order to make final arrangements. Fox River Paper Co., Citizens National Bank, Valley Sporting Goods and Appliance Co., Shoe-iron, Appleton Coated Paper Co., and Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. have indicated their willingness to join. It is possible some of these will be unable to organize teams, but up to date none of them has indicated this to be true.

The league last year brought about a closer race and with the experience gained then it is expected the loop will be even a greater success this season.

Kelley Sure Wonder, Says Stan Harris

New York—Manager Stanley Harris of the Washington club says that, all things considered, he regards First Baseman George Kelley of the Giants as the most remarkable player in the majors.

"Being six feet six inches, it would be supposed that his unusual height would tend to make him clumsy on the ball field. Instead, he is all grace," says Harris.

"I never saw a better stop than he made on Goetzlin while playing second, to end one of the world series games. In center field he pulled a couple of circus catches, while his first-base play could not have been improved upon."

"I regard any player who can step into these difficult positions in a world series and do the fine job that Kelley did, nothing short of a wonder player."

Rookie Sure Fire Hurler, Huggins Says

New York—While Miller Huggins of the New York Americans realizes his pitching is slipping, he isn't as worried as it might seem.

Of his veterans, Jones, Pennock and Hoyt, should be consistent winners. The veterans, Shawkey and Bush, are doubtful.

However, Huggins feels that in Walter Beal has just the man needed to bolster up his staff.

Beal, a husky right hander secured from Rochester in the International did great work during the closing month of the season. His best effort was striking out 10 Athletic players in seven innings.

He is being banked on as a regular by the mite manager of the Yanks.

EIGHT APPLETON KEELING QUINTS IN STATE JOUSTS

Brettschneider Funitures Also Plan to Enter National Meet at Buffalo

When bowlers from all over Wisconsin open their annual state tournament at Fond du Lac on Jan. 21, at least eight Appleton teams will be among the more than 600 expected. Probably there will be at least 15 Appleton teams but entries close on Jan. 8 and not more than 8 have entered thus far.

One of the eight Appleton teams also is looking forward to entering the national tournament this year at Buffalo, N. Y., early in March. Brettschneider Furniture has been rolling strong this season and if these keelers make a good showing at Fond du Lac they plan to enter the national meet. They have won 13 out of 14 matches this year, most of them out of town, and have met some of the strongest teams in this part of the state.

New London is the only team which has defeated them, and their team average is 2,690.

Hotel Nordens, Hopnies Wieners, Kunitz Kandy Kide, Cherry Blossoms, Elks, Eagles and A. A. L. all plan on entering the state tourney. All the teams appear to be evenly matched, judging from scores rolled thus far, and any one of them should be able to hold its own with the best entered in the Fond du Lac tourney.

COMMISSION MAY ORDER TUNNEY TO BATTLE GIBBONS

Winner of Fight Will Be Given Shot at Jack Dempsey's Title

New York—It is considered likely that the New York state athletic commission will order Gene Tunney to accept Tom Gibbons' challenge, and there is a possibility that the Tunney-Gibbons bout will be held in May. The winner would meet Jack Dempsey on July 4.

It is understood that a battle between Dempsey and Harry Wills has already been clinched for July 4 but in the event that a Gibbons-Dempsey wrangle can be arranged for that date it is thought the Dempsey-Wills struggle would be postponed until Labor day.

The athletic commission meets Tuesday. If the commissioners order Tunney to meet Gibbons within 60 or 90 days there is likely to be a squabble. The promoters insist that the attraction is too big for indoors, and they want it held back until the opening of the outdoor season when it can be staged at the Yankee stadium, the Polo grounds or the Long Island city stadium.

From what can be learned the Dempsey-Wills bout, if it is held July 4, will be run off in the Long Island city stadium.

Indications are there will be some lively bidding by promoters for the Tunney-Gibbons. Walker Leonard and Greb-Flowers bouts which promise to be among the major fistic attractions of the outdoor season.

It is hinted that Jimmy Johnston will not be the matchmaker for both the Polo grounds and Yankee stadium this year but that he will have to choose one or the other.

SANTA CLAUS MOVES RAPIDLY TO VISIT SCHOOLS

Santa Claus is completing the rounds at the various rural schools of the county. The fact that most of the school programs were held last Friday evening forced him to step lively in order to visit them all. A few schools held sessions on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Christmas vacation comes just in the nick of time for many pupils, for the morale of some schools might have been weakened by the large number of vaccinated pupils. Schools will reopen during the first and second weeks in January when children will have recovered from the worst effects of vaccination.

No Christmas Activities

There will be no activities in the boys' or men's division of the Y. M. C. A. on Christmas day but the buildings will be open and secretaries will be in charge the entire day.

BADGERS SWAMP GRINNELL FIVE

Madison—Wisconsin won an easy game from the Grinnell quintet, 23 to 15, here Monday night. Most of the scoring came near the end of the game. When Martel got into action for the Badgers, Moran was the most consistent Grinnell player, although the visitors displayed little offensive.

The Wisconsin offensive was weak until the second half, when it stiffened. The Badger defense was superior to that of Grinnell throughout.

Gelvin, Grinnell right guard, made a sensational toss from the center of the court for a clean goal.

RADIO PROGRAMS

Shoes from a firm in North Carolina, gloves from Virginia and cuffs and collars from Pennsylvania were among the contributions promised to Harry M. Snodgrass Monday night. Looks as if he would leave WOS fully outfitted for some time to come, and he surely would be a representative American wearing products from coast to coast and Canada to the Gulf. Each time he played Three O'clock in the Morning he received at least a dozen more requests for the piece. Jefferson City was pretty hard hit by ellet and ice and there was only one telegraph wire to Kansas City.

WGY broadcasts an interesting program Tuesday night. At 7:45 the Sphinx Players present a musical comedy, The Isle of Azuvere, and at 10:20 Stephen E. Bosclair presents an organ recital from Proctor's Harmanus Bleekers hall, at Albany.

A Brunswick Hour of Music with famous artists broadcasting direct from the New York recording laboratories of the Brunswick Phonograph Co., will be on the air from KDKA. This program runs from 9 to 10 o'clock.

The cast has many big features Monday night. The big one from WEAF is an encore talk by James Montgomery Flagg, famous artist. His humorous efforts were so well received the last time that he has back for another evening of fun. His talk is entitled Is Christmas a Bore. WEAF, WTAR, WEEI and WCAE will present a choir of 20 voices singing the Christmas Carols of different nations. Clarence Dickenson, choirmaster and organist of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York city is in charge.

KENNEDY SET HAS LOTS OF VOLUME AND EASY TO TUNE

Appleton Radio Shop is Well Equipped with Receivers for Holiday Trade

A large number of sales of the five tube Freshman radio receiver has left some of the dealers with only a few on hand. The Appleton Radio S is equipped, however, to supply these sets complete for some time.

Superior tone quality of the Kennedy receivers, their good volume and simplicity of tuning, has made satisfied Kennedy owners.

A highly selective, long range radio frequency set supreme. Cuts through powerful local broadcasting and brings in those hard-to-reach stations. The five bulb circuit comprises two stages of radio frequency, detector and two stages of audio frequency. A special selectivity control is provided so you can adjust the set to the particular conditions in your locality; then that control needs no further attention.

Tuning is regulated on two dials: one for each band and none left over. As each of these is set at practically the same point, noting down the setting for the first dial gives you the setting for both. You can quickly tune in any desired station, for each station comes in on its own dial setting.

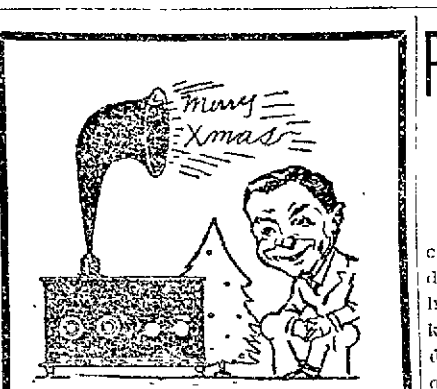

The volume is always under control: you can have loud reception or soft, as you please. Perfect tone quality, both voice and music. Troubleproof construction. Piano finish genuine mahogany cabinet. Can be operated on an outdoor or indoor aerial, or a loop where an outside aerial cannot be put up. Non-radiating. Price, with accessories $12.50. Sold by Appleton Radio Shop, exclusive Kennedy dealer.

ECHOPHONE BUILT FROM EXPERIENCE

Ever since 1914 The Radio Shop of Sunnyvale and Long Beach, California, has been building Radio Receiving Sets for the trade, and was among the first concerns licensed to manufacture the celebrated Armstrong Regenerative Circuit. More than 10 years of radio manufacturing experience is built into the Echophone Models of today, which meet every requirement for range, volume, selectivity, workmanship, appearance and price.

All Echophones are encased in extremely attractive cabinets that blend perfectly with any home furnishings. The V-3 and P Grand Console Models are masterpieces of the cabinet makers' art. Only the best grades of selected Walnut go into the Console Models. No expense has been spared to perfect the craftsmanship built into Echophone cabinets, which are designed to please the most fastidious and priced considerably lower than other type of receiving sets of like quality now on the market.

The Echophone V-3 Console is a three-tube regenerative, combining features usually found in much higher priced instruments. Beautiful two-tone genuine Walnut cabinet contains built-in Loud Speaker of wonderful

This five-tube radio receiver closely approaches the ultimate in radio. Designed for either loop or antenna operation. RADIO IS NEWEST CHRISTMAS GIFT

Five years ago when people thought of an appropriate Christmas gift they did not think of giving a radio. They had possibly heard of the name, but knew nothing of it or of the tremendous inherent possibilities it might offer to mankind if developed properly. Over five years of careful, detailed investigation has developed the Atwater Kent Radio a set that reigns supreme in the radio world.

In radio efficiency increases as experience refines and simplifies it. Upon the examination of an Atwater Kent receiving set you will notice the absence of intricate wires and usual bulky controls. This set always makes a favorable impression on a radio fan because of its simplicity of construction, from panel to connections.

Largely because of this simplicity—plus exquisite workmanship and precision of engineering skill—Atwater Kent receiving sets have no peer in the combined features of selectivity, distance, ease of operation, tone quality and volume.

Besides a choice of five different model sets there are also three loud speakers of various types. Atwater Kent instruments are on display at the West Side Tire Shop.

SHIP BATTERY DRY TO RADIO DEALERS

Dynamic Means Customer Will Get Absolutely Fresh Battery

Dynamic Philco Batteries mean that, for the first time in history, a charged radio "A" Philco Battery is shipped to the dealer absolutely dry. It may be kept indefinitely without deterioration and is prepared for use simply by adding Philco Electrolyte.

It means that you are now sure of getting a fresh, 10 per cent charged battery that has not lost charge or wasted away on the dealer's shelf. If you wish, you may see us add the Philco Electrolyte which makes the battery ready for use without the usual initial charge.

The Philco Dynamic Battery gives not less than 50 per cent of rated capacity on the first discharge without any initial charging and full capacity or over after a few cycles.

Philco Dynamic Radio "A" Batteries have all the time-tested features of the famous long-life high-powered Philco Slotted-Cell Batteries—standard for automobiles, mine locomotives and other heavy duty service.

When you buy a Philco Battery you get the benefit of sixteen years of successful battery building—the experience gained in building thousands of radio batteries for the government and largest manufacturers of radio apparatus.

To obtain the best results from our radio receiving set do not use small type radio "A" battery. For better reception use a Philco Battery in your set. For charging, repairing or any information ask Jimmie Burke.

RADIO REPLACES THEATRE, OPERA

Today we do not have to go to the theatre or the opera house to get the best entertainment and music. We have the best in our homes through the medium of radio.

But only the best radio sets can give us the maximum amount of entertainment. Such a radio set is the Freshman Masterpiece—a carefully planned by expert electrical engineers and just as carefully executed by the most efficient workmen.

In this set there is a special sub-panel under which are concealed the majority of the wiring and fixtures. When the top is lifted all that is to be seen is the five tubes, the variable condenser and three tuned radio frequency units.

All wiring transformers and rheostats are mounted below this panel, thereby being hidden from view. This greatly increases the efficiency of the receiver.

When the wiring is done by an amateur it is usually constructed so as to please the eye with graceful curves or square corners. This is a serious mistake which is corrected in the Freshman Masterpiece, says Mrs. Blake of the Appleton Electric Co. With the aid of the sub-panel all wiring is done in the shortest possible manner, saving loss and complete efficiency.

What would be better than a Freshman Masterpiece set for a Christmas Present. Order yours today.

INDIVIDUAL "MIKES"
Each series of instruments in the orchestra, it is a recent broadcast of an opera from a Berlin station, had a microphone before it. This was to gather the sounds individually and join them later, rather than gather the combined sound of the entire orchestra.

Elitvege, Germany, has a trans-umbrella aerial 825 feet high and oceanic transmitting station with an 8,000 feet in diameter.

BATTERY MUST BE STORED IN WINTER

At this time of the year many people are preparing to lay up their cars. One important question that arises now is how to take care of the battery while the car is idle. There is only one proper thing to do and that is store the battery at a reliable battery station, says Mr. Al Schroeder of the Willard Service Station.

There are two kinds of storage for batteries, the wet and the dry storage. Wet storage means that the battery is kept fully charged by passing current through it while in storage. Dry storage means that in wood insulated batteries the battery is taken apart and new wood separators are put between the plates and new acid added and charged up for the car owner in the Spring. The kind of storage your battery needs depends on the kind of insulation it has and also the age and number of miles driven.

Willard threaded rubber batteries should always be stored wet. The Willard Service Station has the best of equipment to take care of your battery for the winter months. We will be glad to advise whether your battery should have wet or dry storage. A phone call will have a truck at your door to call for your battery and a few minutes notice in the Spring will have your battery back in your car fully charged for the Summer driving season.

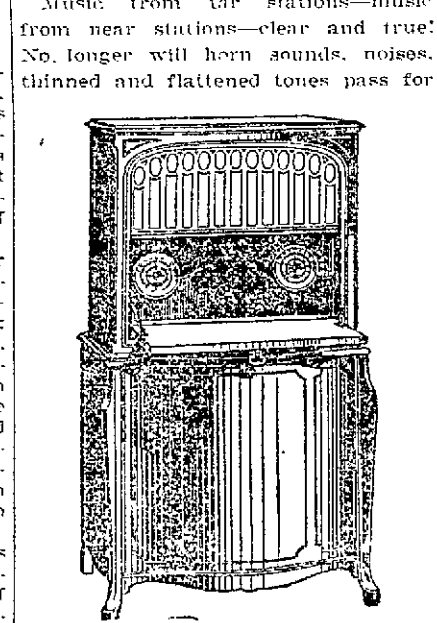

DISTANCE FAN NOW TURNED LISTENER

The "Distance fan" is now a listener. The thrill of radio is no longer in getting fifty stations in a night, for radio has conquered distance and turns to music.

Music from far stations—music from near stations—clear and true! No longer will horn sounds, noises, whined and flattened tones pass for music because they come from far away. In the Radiola X, each thread of sound reaches your room as it was played or sung in full richness. Speech is clear, voices are real.

The engineers have kept pace with the broadcasters—have improved reception to meet an ever widening world fun. With the simplicity, the beauty and the tone quality of Radiola X, the home becomes a fascinating corner in a world of new interests and new pleasures—for every body.

The Radiola X is the famous Regent-olux circuit in a rich mahogany finished cabinet, with a built-in loud speaker, and space for the batteries. With 4 Radiolons WD-11. Complete except batteries and antenna $248. "The Radiola for every purse" on display at the Meyer Seeger Music Store.

ENTIRE DEFOREST SET IS ENCLOSED

The De Forest Radio Set has all apparatus in a case. Antenna is two foot loop projecting from the top cover. No slightly external batteries, outside loud speaker, or room-cluttering wires.

It is one of the easiest long distance sets made to operate. Very few controls. Each set furnished with an enclosed tuning chart. All innermost parts visible and accessible by lifting cover.

The set is highly selective. Six stages of amplification with a detector stage, using only four tubes, with tube and battery economy. Tuned radio volume controllable, from whisper up to that volume equal to the loud noise of the phonograph. Absolute fidelity of reproduction, preserving all beauty and tonal qualities of artists. Very free from extraneous noises. It has a great distance range.

The large number of amplifying stages obtained with four tubes, cuts cost of tube replacement and battery upkeep. This is of grave importance, as more than five tubes consume expensive "B" batteries at ruinous rate.

The apparatus is compact and can be carried in totebag of a car. Leather case set will not mar from ordinary rough usage.

It is the most handsome low priced set on the market. Either art embossed two-tone leather, and piano finished two-tone mahogany cases.

At a remarkably low price several hundred dollars below any sets that compare with the De Forest D-12 in distance range, efficiency and beauty. For sale at Irving Zuehlke.

BRITISH COAST STARTS SILENT WAR ON DISEASE

By Associated Press
London—Officials of the ministry of health declare that they have set up a silent barrage against plague, typhus fever and cholera which costs the country only $500,000 yearly, "probably the cheapest insurance premium in the world."

An official stated that the whole of the coastline of Great Britain and the shores of navigable rivers are included in a sanitary district, the council of which is responsible for dealing with any sea-borne infectious diseases that may be introduced into the districts.

The work of medical port officers never ceases, it is going on day and night, and is a "silent" service, the ministry asserts.

RADIO ON TRUCK PROVES VALUABLE

By Associated Press
Detroit—After five months of use, radio as a means of directing the movement of the Detroit Street Rail way department's emergency repair trucks is proving itself feasible and has saved the city more than $3,000 a month, according to H. M. Gould, assistant general manager of the municipally owned traction system.

Before the installation of receiving sets on the trucks, the truck would make temporary repairs upon call, then return to their stations, to await further calls. A construction truck followed as soon as possible to make permanent repairs. Later an attempt to have the emergency trucks complete the job and telephone for further orders proved impracticable.

Last May, after two years occupied in designing and installing special receiving equipment on trucks and have the police station, KOI, forward orders to the trucks the radio method of transmission of orders was inaugurated.

At first the crews were summoned to the nearest telephone upon hearing strains of a certain piece of music. Later orders were transmitted direct.

TEST INVENTION FOR DRYING CROP

By Associated Press
Oxford—An invention is being tried by the Institute of Agricultural Engineers at Oxford University, which, if developed will remove one of the chief causes for grumbling on the part of British farmers and revolutionize English harvesting methods.

The invention is a new process for drying farm crops, a very necessary thing in the damp English climate. The plan is to cut the crop and make it into circular stacks of from 10 to 20 tons weight around a hollow central chamber. Heated air will then be blown over it by powerful fans. Haystacks have been dried by this means in ten hours without fermentation.

It is asserted that the new process will allow a harvest to proceed in any weather, save field labor, give a greater corn field, make straw better, and facilitate plowing.

PLAN TO SAVE 15 DAYS ON BAGDAD-LONDON TRIP

By Associated Press
London—Fifteen days on the through journey from Bagdad to London will be saved when a new commercial service for passengers now planned begins operation.

Special passenger-plans designed for this route, which passes over the desert between Cairo and Bagdad, will be used. They will be equipped so that meals can be served in the air, and the day saloon will be converted into sleeping compartments at night.

Dry out coats in your set occasionally in wet weather by placing a lighted electric lamp inside the cabinet for an hour or so.

Men's Armor Can't Shield From Women

BY CYNTHIA GREY

You can't stop men from falling in love with us. They just keep on doing it.

They hate us for using rouge, but they carry our vanity cases around in their pockets, lovingly.

They despise us for our weakness. And they hate us for the strength we have over them in an argument.

They loathe us for crossdressing; yet they listen to it eagerly.

We are a puzzle to men, but they are no puzzle to us. We know that we can be unreasonable and petty and hard-tempered and black, but that as long as we are pretty and know what color becomes us best, you can't stop men from falling in love with us.

They just WILL keep on doing it.

QUESTIONS-ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: Why is it that so many men make a date with me once and then never again? I am pretty and not prudish. I do not mind an occasional goodnight kiss. I dress well, too, and the men say I dance wonderfully.—Puzzled.

I think you're not prudish enough. A girl who lets men kiss her is not interesting to them long. Try not kissing them at all. They'll like you better for it.

Dear Miss Grey: I used to go over to my girl friend's house at night sometimes when her young man was calling there. Then I noticed that he began to pay more attention to me than to her, and when I left he would take me home. Now he has asked to come to see me. What shall I do?—Flapper.

It depends on how much you think you care about him. If he means no more to you than any other boy, send him a letter telling him to go. If you think you ought to be frank about it with your chum. You owe her this, at least.

Lasting Lover Is Bony Type Of Man, Says Psychologist

BY EDNA PURDY WALSH

The most lasting lover in the world is the bony type of man. He is long in size, long in proposing, long in ceasing to love, and long in life.

We do not call him bony because he is thin, but because his bones are large. They are more prominent in his makeup than muscle, ligaments or fat.

Bones represent the strongest, longest lived part of man. An excess of bone in the body makes for firmness, love of principal, scientific mental interests, hard work, strong habits, punctuality and lack of showiness.

Such men, if of a physical type, do our farming, our mining, or production work with metals and bricks.

If they are of a mental type they are smaller in hands and feet, higher in forehead, and less awkward and slow in the walk than the physical type of bony man.

The lover with square, prominent bones loves the established conventional things of life. He doesn't care for dancing, parties or social life.

If you are looking for devotion without flashiness, love that does not change with moods, freedom from financial worry in your old age, look more than once at the lover with prominent bones and little muscle.

If he is a physical worker he writes us devotions in stability and hard work. He doesn't consider petting his work in life. If he is very mental and quick, he writes us poetry, and gives us books to read.

Nature plays him a cruel trick, and gives him for an affinity a round-faced, plump girl who will not study, but prefers to go to parties and theaters. Their misunderstanding are many.

Nature plays with us for a purpose in our lovmaking. Let us watch her ways closely. When we are smart enough to study her ways, we will no longer be played with.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO RUTH BURKE. CONTINUED

Karl Whitney stopped, abashed. "I beg your pardon," he said. "I did not think I was interrupting anything private."

Mother turned to him.

"Karl," she said, "I want to ask you some questions."

Alice groveled at my mother's feet, pulling her dress.

"Don't tell him, mother. Don't tell him. I did it because I love him. I did it because I love him. Don't tell him. He will always hate me, if he knows."

Poor Karl, Ruth, stood there looking very uncomfortable. Mother raised Alice to her feet, but looked at her in horror. It seemed to me that my mother was looking at her daughter as though she were a total stranger.

Finally she found words: "You'll excuse me for a little while, Karl," she said. "Then I will clear this matter entirely up to your satisfaction as well as my own."

"Leslie, I am telegraphing for your answer to bring the baby over himself. I think it's important that he should be here. I know your father will want to see him as soon as he's able to see any one."

As soon as mother and Alice had left the room, Karl turned to me and said: "What does this mean, Leslie? What is the matter with Alice? She hasn't been herself for quite a while. In fact, I came over today to find out what was wrong with her."

"I'm going to ask you a very pertinent question, Karl. Are you very fond of Alice?"

Karl hesitated, turning red, then white.

"Yes, I think I am as fond of her as I will ever be of any woman. I suppose, Leslie, I am what they call a one-woman man, but that is all gone by. We won't talk about it."

"Karl, may I give those pearls you gave me back to Alice for a wedding present?"

"What is the matter? Is all this fuss being made about that foolish string of pearls again. Alice doesn't want those pearls."

"Yes she does, Karl—so much so that she is perfectly willing to break up my home to get them."

"Leslie, I can't hear this, even from you. You must be mad."

The nurse came in at this moment, saying that my father wanted me.

I spent the whole afternoon with him, and so here the matter stands. Mother has sent for Jack, Alice TOMORROW: Letter from Ruth Burke to Leslie Prescott.

The tunnel to be built between Liverpool and Birkenhead, England, will accommodate four lines of highway traffic on one deck, and two rows of tracks for street cars on a lower level.

Carvings on rocks recently discovered in the Libyan desert of Africa indicate that the Eskimos and South African Bushmen met in Europe 30,000 years ago.

Japan, the Philippine Islands, China, Ceylon and Siam purchased more passenger automobiles from American firms in the first nine months of 1924 than they did in all of 1923.

A POSTOFFICE RIDDLE

This was the next riddle that the Riddle Lady asked:

"Little Jack Horner, Is stuck in a corner, But he never heard of a pie: He stuck with a lick, Not licked with a stick, And he says 'What a good fellow am I!'"

"Now little Jack Horner, Though stuck in his corner, Goes traveling by night and by day, For two cents or a penny, He can go almost any Place, no matter how far away."

"From New York to Texas, (Enough, sir, to vex us) He goes for a fifth of a dime, Someone must be jealous, For a mere glance will tell us, He has a black eye half the time."

"One thing I must mention, Watch calls for attention, His railroad must be single track, When he goes far away, It's a sure thing he'll stay."

"Oh, I know what it is. It's a postage stamp," said Nick. "That can go 'most any place for two cents."

"What is a postage stamp?" asked Bo Peep.

"Yes, what is it?" asked Tom, Tom the Piper's son.

"Don't you know?" exclaimed Nancy. "A postage stamp! My goodness! Where have you been?"

"It isn't so strange that Mother Goose people don't know about postage stamps," said the Riddle Lady. "I didn't think of it when I asked it. Mother Goose Land is an old-fashioned place and all the folk in it are old-fashioned. They send all their letters by messenger and stamps are not needed."

So she began at once to tell them all about it.

"I don't see why you called it after me," said Jack Horner.

The Riddle Lady smiled. "Well, you see, I had to have a word that rhymed with corner and Horner was the only one I could think of."

PARENTS ADVISED
CHILDREN MUST BE VACCINATED

Principals Warn That Health
Board's Order Must Be Complied With

Principals of the four school districts have sent out letters during the last few days informing the parents of the health orders which require that children must present a vaccination certificate on Jan. 5 when they return to school, or present some proof from a doctor that they are immune from small pox. The letter asks cooperation of parents in this matter. The children in each school have been told how a vaccination "works" and how little it really hurts in comparison with the scratches and bruises acquired in every day play.

Parents are asked to consider the matter of wasted time if the children aren't vaccinated promptly. The letter emphasizes that no child can possibly be permitted to school without the proper proof of immunity. A tremendous loss in school work will result if the children wait until after the holidays to attend to this matter.

The order is primarily a preventive action on the part of the health board. It may mean the saving of many lives by preventing an epidemic of smallpox. Parents have the power to save their children from a real danger if they will cooperate with the school principals and the health board, the letter says.

Scheffer, and final account in the estate of Richard Dawson.

YOLANDA

Marion Davis' latest Cosmopolitan production, "Yolanda," had its first showing in Appleton yesterday at the Elgie theatre and it stands out as one of the finest, most artistic productions of the entire year. It is beautiful in its settings, skillful in its direction and excellent in the acting.

The entire production is full of the glamour of fifteen century France. The sets devised by Joseph Urban are marvels of beauty and are historical in accuracy. The story was adapted by Laurence Reed from Charles Marjor's novel, "Yolanda," and was directed by Robert G. Vignola who directed Miss Davis' first big smash hit, "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

"Yolanda" gives Miss Davis a latitude of characterization even greater than that which she had in "Little Old New York." In both pictures she is called upon to delineate two characters that are quite different. In "Yolanda" Miss Davis appears as Princess Mary of Burgundy and as Yolanda, a burlesque maid. She gives a finished performance in both characterizations, proving anew that she is one of the ablest and most charming of our screen actresses.

The cast is a notable one, both in the names of its players and in the excellence of their acting. Helbrook Film presents a fascinating portrait of the wily King Louis XI of France, a sinister figure on the verge of insanity. Lyn Harding, whose vigorous and sure handling of the part of Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy, attests his mastery of screen technique, gives an even more commanding performance than he did in "When Knighthood Was in Flower." Other important roles are played by Ralph Graves, as handsome and resourceful Prince Maximilian of Styria whose love affair with Yolanda gives romantic interest to the story. Gustav von Seyffertitz, the Austrian Johny Dooler, Leon Errol, Maclyn Liebowitz, Robert Maxwell, Conover, Mary Kennedy, Thomas Findlay and others.

UNUSUAL STORY IN BIG FILM

"UNMARRIED WIVES"
A throbbing and tense dramatic story is unfolded in a way that is bound by realism and color in the big production, "Unmarried Wives," which comes to the New Bijou today and Wednesday. This film is away from the stereotyped features, both in its style of romantic construction and the cast which includes such popular players as Mildred Harker, Gladys Brockwell, Lloyd Whitlock, Bernard Randall, George Cooper, Mrs. Davenport and Mabel Coleman. It was directed by that well known director, James P. Hogan.

Many big climaxes are staged in "Unmarried Wives." Among these are the torch dance, the burning of a big theatre, a wild ride, a fight for a woman to save her honor, the rescue of a woman from a burning building, the rescue of another woman from an auto train wreck.

It is a picture that has a modern

APPLETON BOYS WIN
HONORS AT MADISON

Two Appleton youths attending the University of Wisconsin received high honors during the first semester, according to information received here. They are Richard Norler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Norler, 624 Washington-st., and Beverly Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Murphy, 483 College-ave. They made the highest record of any of the 300 students in the engineering school, which is regarded as one of the most difficult courses at the university. Both young men graduated from Appleton high school with the class of 1924 and were on the honor roll, besides holding important student offices.

love story and will appeal to all lovers of good films.

TRIUMPH
Cecil B. De Mille's newest Paramount production, "Triumph," which opened yesterday at the Appleton Theatre, has for its central idea the change overnight of a rich man to poverty and a poor man to wealth, with all the dramatic reactions such as that would be sure to entail. Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque and Victor Varconi head the lengthy cast of featured players. Miss Joy and Mr. La Rocque come to "Triumph" direct from the conspicuous individual successes in "The Ten Commandments" while Varconi is the first actor to come to America from Hungary where he has been a matinee idol for years.

The story by May Edginton, from which Jeanie Macpherson wrote the screen play, told of two men, half brothers, one rich, the other poor, who exchanged positions over night. DeMille has considerably expanded this material, particularly enlarging the part of Anna Land, played by Miss Joy, who provides the love interest in the original story, while the two boys represent two phases of American life and discontent.

As Leatrice Joy portrayed the carefree, jazz girl of "Manslaughter," so is she in "Triumph" the type of twentieth century young woman who puts marriage aside for a future consideration and devotes her time to work that will lead to a career, only to find that fame isn't everything. La Rocque gives his usually satisfying performance and Varconi—his actor will hear watching. DeMille predicts great things of him. "Triumph," all in all, rings true to DeMille's reputation for providing strong box-office attractions.

Dance that was to be held at the Stevensville Auditorium, Dec. 26 was postponed until Easter Monday.

INDUSTRIES TELL
TALE OF WISCONSIN

If anyone were ever inclined to say that Wisconsin citizens as a group were not interested broadly in the welfare of their state, the results of the present Wisconsin Manufacturers' Association advertising campaign would convince him. That the contrary is true, said Mr. Carl Johnson, 483 College-ave. They made the highest record of any of the 300 students in the engineering school, which is regarded as one of the most difficult courses at the university. Both young men graduated from Appleton high school with the class of 1924 and were on the honor roll, besides holding important student offices.

"This association has felt for a long time that if the people of Wisconsin knew of the conditions faced by the state's industries, many of these conditions would be speedily changed. The purpose of this campaign has been to acquaint the people with these facts. And in no sense can this be considered as a purely selfish enterprise for the benefit of the association's membership, for it is a well recognized fact that as industry prospers and as agriculture prospers, that state and its entire citizenship benefit. It is the money brought into the state from outside sources through the sale of farm products and the manufactured products that keeps us all going."

"There has been a great deal of talk about the weather for years, but up to date very little has been done about it."
